

Tinplate Hardness Tester

It often happens that the material quality differences cause production interruptions. Especially hardness irregularities of your sheet blanks can lead to large rounding differences resulting in disturbances in the rounding area of the welding machine.

With the SABATEC Tinplate tester BLTE1000 you can easily and efficiently detect the hardness irregularities of your tinplate blanks.

The comparison test will allow you to react early and with only little effort to increase the efficiency.

